Message from the President

The very first virtual technical meeting this year was presented by Hammad Mazhar last September 28th with the topic, "The Future of Global Supply Chain which is very timely amid the effect of the current pandemic. We also have secured booking for other speakers for the next three (3) consecutive months, namely, October, November and December. John Zhao who is a respected risk professional will be presenting his topic on October 15th, while Rufran Frago, founder of PM Solution Pro and an author of several project control books will discuss schedule quality assessment on project portfolios on November 19th and Gholan Medalla, an international speaker will be presenting on December 10th.

These upcoming presentations will be interesting as it covers different topics from diverse project control professionals according to their own expertise. Hammad started the technical meeting with topic on supply chain while John's is about project contingency. Quality assessment on schedule will focus on Rufran's presentation while Gholan's subject will be announced later.

The table on the next page entitled "2020 Summary of Events" summarizes the three (3) presentations.

Further, the current Board meets monthly online as part of health and safety protocol and continuously discussed future activities for the Section.

Please do not hesitate to contact us of any inquiry you may have.

Sincerely,

Ramon Ombac, PSP
